

GOVERNOR FIGHT GOES TO COURTS

Glynn Will Ask an Injunction Against Sulzer's Acting as Executive.

each other, passing friendly compliments. The Glynn letter was a formal demand for possession of the executive offices and the privy seal of the State and the Sulzer reply was a formal refusal.

Glynn's attorneys will apply late this afternoon to a justice of the supreme court for an order formally restraining Sulzer from exercising his powers as governor. This will have the effect of squarely joining the issues involved before a legal tribunal.

Governor Sulzer did not leave the executive mansion until late. He and his attorneys discussed their plans and "O.K'd" the formal reply which was to be made to the Glynn demand.

At 11:45 it was stated that the condition of Mrs. Sulzer showed considerable improvement.

Today the capitol is stirred by the report that Mr. Sulzer and his friends were planning a most sensational vengeance on Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, and several of his lieutenants who managed the fight in the assembly which led up to the impeachment vote. It was strongly intimated that Charles F. Murphy, Senator James J. Foley, from Murphy's district; Deputy Comptroller Michael Walsh, Senator James J. Frawley, head of the Frawley investigating committee, and Speaker Alfred E. Smith, of the assembly, might be charged with treason as a result of the activities in which they engaged during the momentous night when the assembly was voting on the impeachment resolution. Evidence actually is being collected and precedents looked up.

It is learned from a reliable source that some of Mr. Sulzer's counsel already had been instructed to formulate the charges and collect evidence to indict and convict those of his opponents whom Mr. Sulzer held chiefly responsible for the humiliation that was heaped upon him through the action of the assembly in the early hours on Wednesday.

The Sulzer forces accuse the Tammany leaders mentioned as having acted as a board of strategy in directing the operations of Mr. Sulzer's enemies and working telephone lines in various directions with a view of bringing to bear upon Democratic members of the assembly the pressure of party bosses throughout the State.

If the necessary proof should be obtained the prosecution would be brought on the ground that the action in the assembly was part of a plot on the part of the leaders to seize control of the government of the State for Tammany Hall, and that to attain their ends they were bringing illegal pressure to bear on a grand jury. On the night the impeachment was found the assembly performed the function of a grand jury.

Indications today were that the question of whether Sulzer automatically lost the privileges conferred on him by the electorate of the State with the adoption of the impeachment resolution would be expedited in the courts. Both sides want a quick answer to this because neither Sulzer nor Glynn desires to have his actions declared illegal. But up to the present time their attorneys have been unable to agree on a plan whereby a test case could be made. That was what they were devoting their energies to today. Unless they can agree, it is likely that the State will continue to present the spectacle of two men discharging the duties of governor, with a cloud over the actions of each.

Governor Sulzer today professed to be more confident than ever that he would not have to answer the impeachment proceedings. He reiterated his declaration to the senate from trying him, leaving his home for the capitol. But he declined to explain how he hoped to enjoin the senate from trying him. He declared his lawyers were handling that phase of the matter, and that they did not intend to show their hand in advance.

Mrs. Sulzer Is Improved. The governor and his big battery of lawyers were in conference in the "people's house" until after 3 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Sulzer could be obtained from any of the lawyers regarding what was done, but it is understood that the question of peaceably surrendering the reins of government to Glynn was up at length and no final decision reached.

Mrs. Sulzer was reported as somewhat improved today. So far it has been impossible to get any positive statement regarding her actual condition. As a result, many wild rumors have been in circulation. It was learned, however, that she passed a fairly comfortable night and that she was able to sit up this morning.

Announcement from Saratoga that former State Senator Edgar Truman Brackets had been retained as chief attorney for the Sulzer case, was a surprise. It was stated that the State's case would get a strong presentation regarding her actual condition. As a result, many wild rumors have been in circulation. It was learned, however, that she passed a fairly comfortable night and that she was able to sit up this morning.

Brackets was scheduled to confer with Governor Sulzer today. He is now in the upper house, today. Wagner will remain in Saratoga until the Sulzer case is over. The assembly now has complete charge of the impeachment proceedings, as Aaron J. Levy, the chairman of the assembly board of managers, has broken down and is under the care of a physician at his hotel at the Springs. It was stated by Levy's friends that his condition was not serious, but that he would require absolute rest.

The report that Governor Sulzer was planning to cause the indictment of the Tammany leaders responsible for his impeachment on charges of high treason was not confirmed in the offices of District Attorney Sanford today. It was stated there that no attempt had been made to call the attention of the prosecutor to any violation of the law. At the same time, it was stated that there did not seem to be any evidence which would make the officials liable, even though it should be shown that they were members of the assembly and lower house to vote for the impeachment resolution.

Governor Sulzer has received the telegram from Thomas W. Lawson announcing that the author of "Frenzied Finance" will be one of twenty-five men to contribute to a fund of $100,000 to be used by Sulzer to fight impeachment. Sulzer wired in reply that the offer was appreciated, but neither he nor his attorneys would say today whether he had accepted.

Word was expected from New York at any time announcing that the New York investigation committee had been re-convened. It is planned by the opponents of the governor to have the committee investigate a report that Governor Sulzer raised and expended a fund of $100,000 in his campaign for direct primaries.

Both Governor Sulzer and Lieutenant Governor Glynn are surrounded by former members of the assembly who are acting as guards. The necessity of their presence is not made plain. It is certain there have been no threats of violence against either. But the publicity given to the entire matter, it has been thought best by their advisers that they be furnished with bodyguards.

Executive Chamber Guarded. Everyone who enters the executive chamber is looked over by two guards who have taken up position in the ante-chamber. In addition, the governor has had all the locks on his private office changed, and he retains all of the keys. Inquiries at the various State departments today showed the following lineup:

For Sulzer—Executive staff, prison superintendent, commissioner of highways, hospital, commissioner, civil service commission, superintendent of banks, public service commission of the Second district, and the labor and health department.

For Glynn—The legislature, attorney general, comptroller, trustees of public buildings, tax commissioner, excise department, State engineer and surveyor, a majority of the conservation commission, the canal board, and the board of efficiency and economy.

LABOR MEN FAVOR PAY DAY CHANGES

Move to Have Weekly Stipend Distributed Fridays Receives Indorsement in Capital.

The movement recently started in Baltimore by the labor unions for the establishment of a general weekly pay day on Fridays, instead of Saturdays, as is now the practice, and which has taken definite form in the Monumental City, is likely to receive impetus in Washington, as the labor organizations in this city are deeply concerned in the proposition. The Federation of Labor of Baltimore is engineering the movement in that city, and it is probable that the matter will be championed in Washington by the Central Labor Union.

When the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor met at Frederick, Md., August 25 to 28, some practical steps to be taken looking to the making of weekly pay days Friday instead of Saturday, John R. Colpoys, secretary of the Central Labor Union, and editor of the Trades Unionist, laid out the proposition. The proposition was the unanimous indorsement of the army of laboring men of the District.

He pointed out that if the laboring men were paid Fridays the housewives of the laboring men would be enabled to go to market Saturday mornings to advantage, instead of going Saturday nights, as they are now compelled to do. With this trade eliminated from the Saturday night market the markets could close early Saturday nights.

WOOD IS MUM AS TO FUTURE FLIGHTS

Aviator Who Thrilled Baseball Crowds Yesterday Will Make No Promises.

"If you see me up in the air, I'm flying. If I'm down on the ground, I'm not."

This is the way C. Murvin Wood answered a question as to whether he would give the baseball scoreboard crowds another such thrill as he gave them last evening when he circled Washington at an altitude of about 1,000 feet. Mr. Wood's unannounced flight was the best he has made in Washington. Rising from the Port Myer parade ground at 6 o'clock, he circled Alexandria, headed for the Washington Monument, then crossed the city, passed Hyattsville, Berwyn, and Mount Rainier, and viewed College Park from a height of 3,700 feet. He wished to get his bearings so that he may make a landing at College Park in a future flight. Returning to the aviation camp, he passed over Georgetown, completing a thirty-mile flight in twenty-five minutes.

Aviator Wood hopes to make several more flights before leaving Washington, but he would not announce the time of any of these, because of the uncertainty of flying on schedule.

DESPENDENT, SHE TAKES POISON

Hotel Guest Found Dying From Mercury—Leaves Note for Friend.

Mrs. Evelyn Kern, twenty-seven years old, a prepossessing married woman, registered at the Hotel Fritz Rieter this morning, saying that she had just arrived, giving her place of residence as Philadelphia, Pa., was taken from the hotel to Emergency Hospital at noon suffering from bichloride of mercury poisoning. Dr. Harry Lewis, mercurial of the hospital, says that her recovery is not assured.

A short time after Mrs. Kern had been assigned a room she called a porter, saying that she was sick and wanted some whiskey. She became more ill, and the management called in Dr. L. L. Friedrich. He spent an hour with the woman before she told him the management of the hotel says that she had taken two tablets of bichloride of mercury.

Dr. Friedrich ordered her to the Emergency Hospital. Physicians say the whiskey may have saved her life, as it acted as an emetic.

Before being taken from the hotel to the hospital, Mrs. Kern said that she had a sister, a Miss West, living at 131 North Carolina avenue, Atlantic City. A telegram was forwarded to that address, and it is expected that Miss West will arrive in Washington early tonight.

Mrs. Kern declined to give any information as to her family, where she lived in Philadelphia, or why she took the poison.

The note left by Mrs. Kern was addressed to her sister, Miss West, 131 North Carolina avenue, Atlantic City, and was as follows: "Dear Sister: Please always think of me well, and try to be more happy than I have been. I have been with you in your sorrow all day. Tell K. to bury me right. He has my insurance, and it is up to him. By-bye all. MAY."

SAYS TARIFF BILL FAVORS THE SOUTH

Charging that the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill is "dangerous to free institutions" because it abandons the protective policy, Senator Dillingham of Vermont today told the upper house that the measure discriminates in favor of the Southern against all Northern industries. Particularly, he asserted, does it threaten the people of New England.

Dillingham argued that high wages had always been essential to the maintenance of republican, as opposed to monarchical, forms of government, and that Republicans must continue actively to guard the industrial welfare of their citizens against foreign competition. This, he said, was the reason for the policy under which Americans manufacturing industries have been built up. He urged the creation of a permanent tariff board, which should revise all duties by the test of difference in cost of production at home and abroad.
